

- Provides leadership for the determination of NIH computational and telecommunications needs at all levels and oversees the development of appropriate infrastructure support to meet identified needs;
- Develops, operates, and maintains a state-of-the-art regional computer facility and provides overall guidance based on legislation and policy that is responsive to the NIH mission;
- Establishes and operates the necessary organization and infrastructure to assure appropriate security, connectivity, and inter-operability across the NIH Institutes and Centers (ICs), off-campus locations, and remote access;
- Collaborates on, and provides for, research activities in the computational biosciences and statistics;
- Develops, administers, and manages NIH systems, and provides consulting services to the ICs, in support of administrative and business applications; and
- Serves as a Federal Data Processing Center for administrative, biomedical, and statistical computing, provides data processing and high performance computing facilities and integrated telecommunications data networks, and provides services to the DHHS and other Federal agencies.

Center for Information Technology Office of the Director (HNU1) Office of IT Services Office of Scientific Office of Administrative Computing Services Management Management (HNUA) (HNU2) (HNUB) Business Application Services Financial Management Group Cloud Computing Services Scientific Application Operations Management (HNU29) Services Services Management Analysis and (HNU2A) Policy Group High Performance High Performance Computing Services Computing Services (HNU2B) Administrative Management Group Identity and Access Management Services Acquisition Planning and Management Group Network Services Communications and Outreach Group Service Desk Services (6) Facility/Infrastructure Support Services Hosting and Storage Services IT Support Services

Unified Communication and Collaboration Services